

Staff Favorite

Picnic Tableware... Gingham Style!

COMING SOON!

The staff here at Dollar Tree loves to get together and enjoy the fresh air as much as possible. As the weather begins to get warmer, this means more parties, barbecues, and picnics. The classic red and white checked pattern of this gingham tableware is somewhat of a cultural icon for picnics and outdoor festivities. Here's a few reasons why we think you'll love this tableware as much as we do:

- Super-easy cleanup: Who really wants to lug around nice plates and napkins to a picnic, just to have to bring them back home and wash them? The paper plates and paper napkins combine the beautiful gingham pattern with an easily disposable and recyclable material. Plus, the table covers are plastic, so simply wiping them down with a wet cloth will get them clean.
- Perfect for holidays: Red and white are staple colors of several holidays for which meals are considered a part of tradition. A romantic picnic can be easily decorated with Gingham tableware by simply adding a red table cover and some heart-shaped table decorations. Mix in some blue items such as cups and table covers and you're ready for an Independence Day cookout. Or, add some extra white and green accents when setting the table for those large Christmas meals.
- Perfect for every day: Holidays are not the only time this tableware is fitting. Busy lives and busy families create a need for disposable paper products, but there's no reason why they shouldn't be stylish. Gingham tableware adds a touch of southern charm to any dinner table or kitchen, and the disposable nature creates quick and easy cleanup after a family meal.

Be sure to check back often throughout the month so you don't miss when these great products become available!