

Insider Info

New Product Sneak Peek!

If you love Dollar Tree you are probably familiar with the cool little solar dancing friends we carry. Can you keep a secret? Since you are a member of our exclusive Value Seekers Club, we thought it only fitting that you should get the first peek at the newest solar pals.

They're so cute, right? And, we've never carried them before! Our new Solar Dancing Monkey and Bear are just $1 each (of course) and will be available in 2013 — as a Value Seekers Club member, you'll be the first to know. We'll send you an email about a day before they are available for purchase so you can be prepared to shop before they are sold out. We're giving you heads-up privileges!

Shhh... keep it a secret! We aren't telling any of our other customers yet because we want you to know first. After they are available online, they will be in stores. But, as you know, quantities will be limited, so being a Value Seekers Club member definitely has its perks!